Subject: Make sure the clean up is done right !,

The EPA has served the business interests in Oregon over the environmental one's for far too long. It is time we let the EPA that we can no longer overlook the toxic cost of businesses. There are other agencies, equally negligent, like Fish and Game, that once again sanctioned the killing of hundreds Brandt Cormorants in a erroneous and misguided attempt to " save the salmon".

Perhaps, these agencies, that are here to protect the people and the environment, need to consider the high levels of PCBS, DDT, oil products, lead and other heavy metals, that are affecting every living and dying organism that swims, eats from or lives near Willamette river. (that does include salmon!)

I am NOT worried about the businesses who have operated without impunity or accountability for the last 50 plus years; really isn't isn't it time we cared about the ecosystem ?

Sincerely,
